

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS
EDITOR(S), FOREIGN POLICY ANALYSIS

General Announcement: The ISA Publications Committee is calling for proposals from individuals or teams to succeed the current editorial team led by Prof. Doug Van Belle. Only those with university positions and access to university resources should apply. Duties will commence in late 2009 or early 2010 for a five year term. The Executive Committee of the International Studies Association will make a recommendation to the organization's Governing Council regarding the new assignment of editorial duties for Foreign Policy Analysis at the 2009 annual meetings in New York.

For parties interested in submitting a proposal: A mission statement for the journal can be accessed at <http://psweb.sbs.ohio-state.edu/faculty/bpollins/index.htm>. Likewise, a description of editorial duties, and guidelines for proposal writers may be found on that same page. A recommendation for new editors must be given by the Publications Committee to the Executive Committee by August 22, 2008. Appointment of the new Editor(s) will be approved at the 2009 ISA meetings for a five year term beginning in 2010. There will also be some transitional duties during late 2009. The International Studies Association will provide a subvention to the Editor(s) of approximately $30,000 annually to support the editorial project. Applications should be submitted to Brian M. Pollins, ISA Publications Committee Chair, in electronic form only, please at pollins.1@osu.edu. Applications should be received no later than June 30, 2008, although applications will be accepted until an appointment is recommended by the committee.

Questions about the process of selecting the editor(s) or the editorial duties involved are likely addressed in materials found on the web page listed above. Any additional questions are very welcome, and may be addressed to the Chair of the Publications Committee, Brian M. Pollins, at pollins.1@osu.edu, or (614) 309-1867. Women and minority candidates are strongly encouraged to apply. ISA is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer.
