DISSERTATION

"The Alliance Market: American Security Relations Under Unipolarity."
Committee members: Randall Schweller (Chair), Alexander Thompson, and Bear Braumoeller.

The dissertation explores various puzzles in alliance politics during the post-Cold War era, focusing on the security relationships of the United States. Positing alliances as exchange contracts, it offers a novel theory that presents predictions about the shifts in intra-alliance bargaining power, the formation and termination of alliances, and the design of alliance institutions. The arguments are assessed through case studies of U.S. alliances with Japan, South Korea, and Spain, and through statistical analysis using the Alliance Treaty Obligations and Provisions dataset.
